

Notes:
The "facade" software design pattern is used. In the design, the user can only manipulate and call the library using an object instance of AUTO_TASK class.

The AUTO_TASK class hides the complexity of the system and provides a simple interface to the library users.

